

2FA

If you have a logon that uses 2FA, in my example an account password where you have to append a verification code, to the password, I would not want TrueKey to update the password.

Therefore would be good to have an option on 2FA accounts where the password field could be setup on TrueKey but only updated manually. The Auto Logon would also need to be turned off to allow the verification key to be added manually to the password field.
